

INFLUENZA

What is it?

Influenza, or the flu, is a virus that annually occurs typically from September-March. It causes a variety of symptoms from fever, runny nose, chills, headaches, and many more.

What happens if my child does not get it?

Your child can develop a more severe version of the virus that can cause infection of the heart, brain, and muscles, lead to multi-organ failure and can even lead to death.

When does my child get it?

Everyone 6 months and older should receive a flu vaccine every Fall.

AS ALWAYS, TALK TO YOUR CHILD'S PEDIATRICIAN IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS